

AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY NOMINATION FOR THE DAVID FUERSTENBERG AWARD

The Fuerstenberg Prize is derived from the interest accumulated by an endowment created by the will of Mr. David Fuerstenberg a rose lover of Philadelphia, PA, who dictated that the income of the fund shall be awarded from time to time at the discretion of the American Rose Society for the new rose best suited to American Conditions.

The Prize can be awarded annually or periodically on the recommendation of the Prizes & Award Committee to the originator of any new rose of American origin suitable to the American climate which may deserve honor. To be considered “new”, the rose must have received its registration within the ten years prior to the award.
